I DREAMED A DREAM

Before Susan Boyle appeared on a British TV talent show in 2009, she was a shy, middle- aged woman from Scotland. Then she sang “I dreamed a dream” for her audition and she became famous. She didn’t win the contest, but millions of people have watched the YouTube video of her performance.

She was born in 1961 in a small Scottish town, the youngest of nine children. She suffered from bullying at school. She left with few qualifications and she has had just one job as a cook at a college. But singing was always part of her life, at school and at her local church and pub. Her mother told her to enter the popular UK Britain’s Got Talent show.

She has recorded six albums and sold millions of copies. Her last album appeared in 2014. She hasn’t won a Grammy award but she has been nominated twice.

But Susan has never forgotten where she came from. She still lives in Scotland. She has never married or had children, but she would like to adopt one. She is very generous with her fortune and donates a lot to several charities. She also uses her money to help her friends and family. She has been an inspiration for all the people who have ever wanted to follow a dream.
